Editorial

If I knew I was going to be this busy in retirement I would have retired earlier to get on top of things!

I apologise to the members for the missing November 2018 Newsletter. Unfortunately I was overrun with various commitments and it kept slipping until it became the February issue.

This brings up an interesting topic for discussion. We are well into the 21st century where the internet, email and websites, are the main form of communication. Do we need to reconsider if a paper format newsletter, largely distributed by email, is the best way to keep the membership up to date? Is a three month interval between newsletters appropriate? Should the website be more dynamic and the first point of contact when members seek information? Alternatively, our membership demographic is older and less familiar with electronic communication. When this question was raised in the past the feedback suggested many members preferred sitting down and reading the paper version. There is no plan to change the format of the newsletter but maybe it is time to have a discussion on the future of our communication.

Related to this topic, as webmaster, I plan to update the look and feel of the site later in the year.

Safe Airtouring,

It All Worked Out In The End: Of Old Aeroplanes And Old Pilots

Mike Fisher

This year's President's fly-in was disrupted from the originally intended programme, principally because of an unexpected wedding party sucking up most of the accommodation at Penola for one night of our two night stay. Thankfully Version 2 was able to achieve most of that was originally intended with our accommodation base moving to Narracoorte.

That is except for the missing in action; two unserviceable Airtourers, one unserviceable pilot and four international travellers. David Wearne drew the consolidation prize by driving, which is better than not at all, in any language.

But at least the weather was OK.

On our way from Kyneton in steady cruise approaching Stawell the radio came alive with overflying calls from another Airtourer and an aircraft doing a practice GPS Approach. From our position the entire approach could be observed below, the position calls filling in the complete three dimensional picture. The other aircraft and the Airtourer dutifully confirming position as requested. This is see and avoid working at its best, a symphony of aviation professionalism, pilots working together in uncontested airspace. Oddly we could not sight the Airtourer and at the reported low altitude we wondered how was he going to get over the looming Grampians? Perhaps a terrain following exercise?

No matter now, my concern is to clear the well-worn monolith, noting that there were not too many landing spots down there. We never did see that Airtourer.

Once on the ground at Narracoorte comments were heard from the resident Aero Club grass cutter along the lines of "are all Airtourers red?" and "is all the New Zealand air force in Australia."

This last comment was because three aircraft were in NZ air force paint schemes, one being the genuine article and the other two impostors.

Arriving in Airtourer 150 VH-ECI, Tony Self and Angela Stevenson were first time attendees at an Airtourer event.

Tony has an ambition to acquire an Airtourer of his own so I hope the fine examples on show were an inspiration-even if they were all to some degree red.

The Coonawarra region is renowned for its unique "terra Rosa soil" structure, which for anyone with an interest in wine makes it a sacred site.

The wineries walking trail takes in six wineries, although I would think that it would become something of a stagger after so many tastings. Nevertheless, it was very convenient to have so many in close proximity. We all made our good use of the facility.

Narracoorte is a nice tidy town with evidence of prosperity, no empty shops and plenty of activity in the town centre. This is where we spent Saturday morning searching for Goats Soap and good coffee.

The Council operated airport is well set up and maintained and NO landing charges. Supported by a town of some 8,000 people the airfield has more movements than Mount Gambier and supports two aerial agriculture operators on the field in addition to private hangers and the club. Facilities include a 250,000 litre swipe card fuel installation. To emphasize the point, a King Air roared in to unload a small bus load of passengers.

The aero club has been in existence since the end of the second world war and also receives strong council support being recognized as an important part of the airport.

The club hosted us to lunch, which is a regular Saturday afternoon event. If you missed this event but are passing by in the future anyone is welcome to participate, just call ahead and advise your intentions.

Gary Burgess, CEO of the Wimmera Aero Club and past President of the Narracoorte Aero club gave us a short talk on the club and its activities.

This is also one of the few remaining aero clubs to still be engaged in flight training, despite receiving that particular version of CASA persecution that has closed so many other similar clubs.

The message from Gary was very clear, clubs and type organizations need to work together in order to survive in the regulatory space.

The Wimmera Aero Club covers a number of locations, operating a new Cessna 172 and Red Bird simulator. The idea is to have the best equipment available and it was very professional by any measure.

The Naracoorte Caves are World Heritage listed. Of the 28 known caves in the park, only four are open to the public. Other caves are set aside for scientific research or to protect the caves and their contents. The temperature is a constant 17 degrees centigrade and many of the caves contain spectacular stalactites and stalagmites.

We took one self-guided cave tour, and a guided tour which was quite extensive. Our tour guide was very enthusiastic about the caves which was evident in her presentations.

Fortunately this cave did not suddenly flood so we were all able to make dinner in time.

Thanks to David Wearne and Andrew Clement for being our bus drivers over the weekend.

And thanks to John Day and Neil Jensen for organizing the event.

In the end, did anyone get to check out the action at the Venus Bar?

Reports

President's Report 2018

President Mike Fisher presented the following report:

My first task is to welcome everyone to the 40th Annual General Meeting of your Association and to thank the Griffith Aero Club for their generosity in hosting us this weekend.

As is appropriate I must also thank the solid pillars on which the Association rests and that is the Committee. The work of this group is unseen by most members, which is at a cost both in time and financially to the Committee members but is essential to the continued life of your Association.

It may be well and good to spend time reflecting on past glories at the 40th AGM, but our focus must be on the future if we are to gather here in ten years' time to celebrate the 50th AGM.

In that spirit we are contemplating adjusting the date of the Presidents Fly-In to October in consideration of weather conditions, any comment will be appreciated.

Updates are in process to the web page and the newsletter.

Gerry Pels is now the Facebook Master and has already posted activities from this Event on the medium-this is real time reporting.

The business of the Association is events, first and foremost and remains the primary focus.

Moved Andrew Clement, seconded Doug Stott that the President's Report be accepted.

41st Convention & Annual General Meeting

Orange, NSW

22nd to 25th March 2019

“Orange without the pips”

For this AGM we will be using Orange Airport but staying not in Orange. Instead the delightful village of Millthorpe, where most everything is within walking distance, will be our night time stay. Conveniently the airport is equal distance between Millthorpe and Orange.

The Orange district is one of the most beautiful and exciting food and wine regions in Australia. Due to its cool climate and rich volcanic soils, the produce ranges from stone fruits and sheep's cheeses to fungi and grapes and about 40 cool-climate wineries operate in the area. There many attractions from historic buildings and street-scapes to cosmopolitan cafes and restaurants in the city.

Accommodation has been a limiting factor and the cause of a date change for the event. Please book early to avoid disappointment.

Accommodation:

Millthorpe Motel

26 Victoria Street

15 Rooms on hold for nights of 22-24 March.

Will only be held until 8 March.

This venue is in the centre of town and within easy walking distance of all attractions and so is the best option those dependent on bus for transport.

Wirriwillah

168 Forest Reefs Rd.

0431610996

5 Rooms

This venue is out of town and not within easy walking distance and so more suitable if you have independent transport.

Booking held until 2 weeks prior.

Lastly there are a number of B&B style accommodations available if you want to do something special. No reservations have been made.

Getting To Orange Without An Airtourer

Orange is located in the Central West of NSW and is approximately 258 kilometres from Sydney.

The Dubbo XPT runs daily between Dubbo and Sydney and stops at Orange. On Mondays the Broken Hill Explorer runs between Broken Hill and Sydney and stops at Orange, coming back on Tuesday. In addition, NSW TrainLink runs daily services from Sydney to Lithgow with connecting coaches to Orange.

Regional Express Airlines have regular passenger services between Orange and Sydney with 25 return flights to Sydney each week. Fly Corporate provides daily, return weekday flights between Orange, Brisbane and Melbourne.

The 4.5 hectare park was laid out as a Victorian style public park out in a traditional Victorian design with straight paths and rows of trees, and much of the original design still in place, with the 'union jack' clearly seen in the path layout. During your visit to Cook Park don't miss the Park Guildry. The work of local craftspeople can be found in 'Bastick Cottage', a Victorian style, heritage building. ## Heard at the Hangar Door

Airtourer 115 RQH which had been operated by a syndicate in Caboolture in Qld suffered an overrun accident early last year. Despite passionate lobbying by some members of the group to have the aircraft rebuilt, the syndicate considered the risk of a cost overrun was too great and a decision was made to purchase a RV6A. They have been assured the RV is welcome at our fly-ins. Speaking of RVs and the RQH group, Chris and Sheridan Wilson were members of the group and had joined us in the past. They also purchased a RV6A and we look forward to seeing them at Orange.

RQH will fly again. Rod Swallow from WA had commenced an upgrade project on his Airtourer 100, MTE, but decided he'd get airborne quicker if he put that project on hold and instead rebuilt RQH. The Co-op has been assisting Rod with wing ribs and other items and the rebuild project is progressing well.

We've recently heard from our South Australian members Gerry Lawson and Robert Zweck. Both are involved with the South Australian Aviation Museum (saam.org.au) and have passed on interesting information. Gerry mentioned the museum obtained a Mirage III D (dual seat) that underwent a challenging move from RAAF Base Edinburgh to the museum. A quick check of the editor's log book shows I flew it a number of times but in particular on my first flight on Mirage conversion course. Robert Zweck wrote the first of a multi part article about his time with Connellan Airways in the Northern Territory in the December 2018 issue of the museum's newsletter, Props & Mags. This was followed up with part two in January and a possible part three mid year. These magazines can be downloaded from the museum website. (look under Archives on the lower right hand side.)

Gerry is still flying his Airtourer VH-MTI but Adelaide to Orange is a little too far for a 100.

Bill Beavis from the UK contacted us recently and passed on his and Marian's best wishes. Bill is a member of the 607 Group that operates an Airtourer 115. Some time ago he moved on from the Airtourer to a Diamond DA40D which he has now sold and is 'retiring' from GA flying.

Margot Rayner and her CT4, VH-CTN, missed the President's fly-in as she was invited to the farewell of the CT4 from the Australian Defence Force training at Tamworth. Margot called upon an old friend and pilot's course mate of the editor, Rod Luke, to fly with her. Rod lives near Temora and is a close friend of Bob and Pat Peak assisting Pat when Bob suddenly passed away 3 1/2 years ago. Margot also will miss Orange due to shoulder surgery, we wish her well and a speedy recovery.

We've also heard other members are suffering health challenges. We wish Liz Matthews, George Penfound and Niels Jenson speedy recoveries.

The Airtourer Association will be represented at the upcoming Australian International Airshow at Avalon at the beginning of March. Currently Airtourers COI, ECI and LVU will be on static display. If you're at the airshow drop in and say hello.

If you change your email address please let us know. We've had a couple of 'bounces' recently and email is becoming the best means of informing members quickly.

On the left is his wife Christine, then his first daughter Joanna, then his son Richard, and then Henry. It was taken at Moorabbin in Autumn, 1960. Thank you Sebastian.
